1. SCOPE

Their Policy establishes the rules and regulations of RealPage (Philippines), Inc. and shall be known as the Company's Employee Code of Conduct.

2. OBJECTIVE

To lay down the policies, rules and regulations of the Company in order to ensure efficient, effective and orderly operations within the organization.

3. DEFINITION OF TERMS

The following words and phrases as used in their Code shall have the meaning indicated herein.

3.1 COMPANY – RealPage (Philippines), Inc.

3.2 COMPANY PREMISES – means all lease holdings as well as vehicles rented by RealPage (Philippines), Inc., alternative work locations of employees and any other location where Company-related activities are conducted.

3.3 DISCIPLINARY ACTION – appropriate and reasonable action taken to enforce the Company’s rules, regulations and prescribed standards, the purpose of such action will be to prevent any employee from:

- (a) unfairly taking advantage of their fellow workers,
- (b) failing to meet their obligation to the Company, or
- (c) impairing the efficiency of the Company

3.4 DUE PROCESS – providing the employee with sufficient notice apprising them of the charges against them and affording the employee ample opportunity to be heard and defend themselves.

3.5 EMPLOYEE – refers to all personnel of RealPage (Philippines), Inc.

4. COVERAGE

The provisions of their Code shall apply to all employees of RealPage (Philippines), Inc. regardless of rank or position in the table of organization and employment status.

5. GENERAL POLICIES AND PROCEDURES - INTERNAL ADMINISTRATIVE CASES ON EMPLOYEE DISCIPLINARY MATTERS

5.1 POLICIES

1. All employees of RealPage (Philippines), Inc. (“Company”) must familiarize themselves and comply with their Disciplinary Procedure.

Acknowledge Receipt: The HR Department Head (“HR Head”) and Department Heads or their respective deputized representative will collaborate to ensure that all employees acknowledge receipt of their procedure in any format deemed appropriate by the Company which must be practical and efficient for safekeeping and retrieval. The HR Head or deputized HR representative will be responsible for securely storing the acknowledgments of receipt for these procedures, along with any amendments or modifications, for all employees in a central repository.

Leadership’s Role: The Country Manager, HR Head, Department Heads, and Senior Leaders (Senior Managers and above) are responsible for ensuring compliance with their procedure and promoting its observance.

Updates and Clarification: The Country Manager and HR Head, in consultation with the Legal Head, may issue updates and guidelines (referred to as “Implementing Memoranda”) to clarify and support their procedure. In addition, the Legal Head may, as the need arise, issue the appropriate legal standards for the handling and disposition of internal cases on employee discipline and termination and may conduct the pertinent information session in partnership with Human Resources.

No Excuses: Unawareness of their Disciplinary Procedure and its Implementing Memos does not excuse any employee from compliance.

2. The HR Head, in collaboration with Department Heads, or their respective deputized representatives will conduct the administrative proceedings outlined in their Disciplinary Procedure and implement appropriate disciplinary actions as defined in Chapter VI of the Employee Code of Conduct. Any reported violations will be promptly investigated and addressed by the HR Head or their appointed HR Business Partner and Department Heads or their appointed Managers. The Committee on Disciplinary Investigation (“Committee”) for each specific case will be promptly constituted and authorized by the HR Head or their appointed deputy from the escalation of the Incident Report accompanied by sufficient evidence to the HR Department which must ensure the equitable participation of all the relevant Departments or Teams from the beginning to the conclusion of the investigation and disciplinary action process. All proceedings will adhere to the timeframe and procedural steps outlined in the Internal Case Management Manual of Human Resources.

3. For alleged offenses where the impossible penalty (or one of the impossible penalties) as charged under the Notice to Explain (NTE) and the recommendation of Human Resources based on the results of the investigation and pieces of evidence reviewed is Termination, the HR Head and the Department Heads must confer with the Legal Head for the evaluation and approval of the disposition of the case in the Notice of Decision (NOD). In addition, the Legal Head or their deputized representative may be consulted in any part of the investigation, as well as participate in the investigation including administrative hearing on a need basis. The Legal Head or their representative may also audit observance of the substantive and procedural due process and/or any documents related thereto to ensure consistent and quality implementation of due process.

4. In the rare instance that the opinion of the Legal Head on the proper disposition of a case is different from the position of the Committee’s majority, the Legal Head will explain the basis of their position and if after the explanation, the Committee is still convinced of its original position, the majority with the concurrence of the HR Head will proceed. In rare cases when no agreement is reached between and among the Committee members, Department, HR and Legal Heads may be escalated to the Country Head who will then make the final decision on the case. All members of the Committee will support the final outcome.

5. An employee who commits an alleged major offense may be placed under Preventive Suspension without pay for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days pending result of the investigation if the employee’s continued presence will pose a serious and imminent threat to the life or property of the Company and/or the Company’s employees. The HRBP is responsible for monitoring the proper implementation of the Preventive Suspension, including reverting the suspended employee to the payroll after the 30th day limitation.

6. Any employee who has been charged and proven to have committed more than two (2) violations of the same or different kind under the Employee Code of Conduct within a period of one (1) year may, depending on the circumstances of the case and at the discretion of the Company, aggravate the violation committed and impose the penalty next higher in severity for the third (3rd) and succeeding violations.

7. For fair and reasonable circumstances, the Company, at its discretion, may mitigate the violation and impose a penalty less in severity than that prescribed under the Employee Code of Conduct.

5.2 GUIDELINES FOR IMPLEMENTATION

To ensure that the Employee Code of Code is justly, fairly and orderly administered by the HR Head and the Department Heads:

5.2.1 The HR Department shall be responsible for:

- 1. Providing regular refresher courses for employees on the Employee Code of Conduct; and
- 2. Conducting an annual review and if necessary, updating the Employee Code of Conduct to align with the Company's requirements and the needs of all departments, teams, and business units.
- 3. Ensuring compliance with the Disciplinary Procedure outlined in the Employee Code of Conduct, in accordance with the roles and responsibilities of leaders and team members across the organization.
- 4. Accomplishing proper documentations - for offenses that warrant Final Written Warning and Termination, the HR Business Partner is responsible for writing the documentations such as Notice to Explain and Notice of Decision.
- 5. Tracking of all disciplinary action records and safekeeping all documents related to the case.

5.2.2 The Department heads shall be responsible for:

- 1. Enforcement of disciplinary actions imposed to employees under the Employee Code of Conduct; and
- 2. Preparing and submitting the required reports, documentation, or recommendations to the HR Department on past and present cases involving Disciplinary Procedure in their respective Departments, Teams and Business Units.
- 3. Ensuring compliance with the Disciplinary Procedure of the Employee Code of Conduct based on the function of the Department and the roles and responsibilities of its leaders and its team members.
- 4. Accomplishing proper documentations - for offenses that warrant Level 1 and 2 sanction, the manager/supervisor of the employee concerned shall write the documentations, such as the Notice to Explain and Notice of Decision in consultation with the HR Business Partner.

5.3 PROCESS

5.3.1 Report of Violations

All information pertaining to the violation of the Company's Employee Code of Conduct where the impossible penalty is Final Written Warning or Termination must be promptly reported to the HR Department and to the Department Head who will jointly review, validate, and evaluate the merit of the report. The leader who has personal knowledge of the facts and circumstances of the matter will initiate their process through the submission of an Incident Report to the HR Department and to the Department Head promptly, no later than 60 days from the date of the incident. The Incident Report will state all relevant matters of facts and must enclose/attach the evidence that supports each allegation in the report. Alternatively, the HR Department may also opt to investigate the matter on its own initiative by requiring the pertinent leaders to submit the Incident Report.

5.3.2 Preliminary Evaluation

After establishing the preliminary facts and evidence that support the basis for the Incident Report, the HR Department, in consultation with the Department Head or their delegated Leader, shall determine based on a preliminary evaluation if the allegations and the initial evidence are sufficient to support the issuance of a Notice to Explain.

- If the allegations and the initial evidence are sufficient, a Notice to Explain ("NTE") will be issued.
- If they are not sufficient, the HR Department, in consultation with the Department Head or their delegated Leader will determine if the allegations and the initial evidence may be rectified or strengthened to support the issuance of an NTE or otherwise, the matter will be dismissed.
- When issued, an NTE must clearly state the charge or charges against the employee in a manner and substance that would enable the employee to understand and defend themselves. against the allegations of facts against them, the law or regulation and the company policy, procedure, instruction, directive, or memo supposedly violated, and the impossible penalties for the alleged violation, if proven. The NTE must also specify the date, time and venue of the administrative hearing if such is deemed necessary by HR.

The NTE will also direct the employee to submit a Written Explanation within the appropriate period stated in the notice why no disciplinary action should be taken against them. The NTE shall be prepared in three (3) copies and distributed as follows:

Original : Employee
 1st Copy : Department Head (or their authorized deputies) *
 2nd Copy : HR Department / 201 File

*Note: There may be instances when the Department Head and their authorized deputies may not be copy-furnished of the documentation of cases that demand the highest level of confidentiality due to the sensitivity of the information involved, such as but not limited to complaints falling under the Company's Anti-Sexual Harassment Policy, Violence Against Women and Children and the likes.

5.3.3 Conduct of an Employee Pending an Investigation

Any behavior or conduct that obstructs, impedes, or impairs the business must immediately cease while the disciplinary process is pending or in progress.

5.3.4 Written Explanation and Right to be Heard

For alleged offenses where the impossible penalty as charged under the NTE is Termination, the employee shall be given five (5) calendar days from receipt of the NTE to submit their Written Explanation. Except in cases where an Administrative Hearing of Conference is mandatory (e.g., the employee asked for an Administrative Hearing or Conference), the opportunity given to an employee to submit a Written Explanation constitutes the employee's right to be heard.

- For alleged offenses where the impossible penalty as charged under the NTE is Final Written Warning without risk of termination, which must be explicitly stated in the NTE, the employee shall be given three (3) calendar days from receipt of the NTE to submit their Written Explanation.
- For alleged offenses where the impossible penalty as charged under the NTE is Any Other Warning (without risk of termination), the employee shall be given one (1) working day from receipt of the NTE to submit their Written Explanation.

5.3.5 Waiver of the Written Explanation

If no Written Explanation is received after the lapse of the aforesaid period, the same shall be construed as a waiver on the part of the employee to submit the Written Explanation and/or its supporting evidence and that the Company may proceed to decide the matter based on the facts and evidence gathered during the preliminary evaluation and the results of any subsequent investigation or evidence duly received, without any Written Explanation on the employee's part.

5.3.6 Administrative Hearing or Conference when mandatory

A formal Administrative Hearing or Conference is not mandatory in the Disciplinary Procedure except when it is requested by the employee in writing, or when there is substantial dispute of evidence that will justify a deeper probe of the matter. In such circumstances when Administrative Hearing is conducted, the respondent has the right to attend with the help of their counsel, however, the latter is not allowed to engage in a discussion with the facilitator of the Administrative Hearing during the said conference.

5.3.7 Preventive Suspension

If the employee's continued presence in the company poses a serious and imminent threat to the life or property of the Company or of the Company's employees, the HR Department may place the employee under Preventive Suspension without pay for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days. Should the HR Department in consultation with the employee's Department Head and the Legal Head decide to extend the Preventive Suspension beyond thirty (30) days, the employees must be paid usual full compensation and other benefits during the period of the extended Preventive Suspension. Also, employees who were fully exonerated after investigation will be paid back for the days they were on Preventive Suspension. It must be highlighted that Preventive Suspension is not a penalty, but a measure allowed by law in order to prevent such a serious and imminent threat to the life or property of the Company or of the Company's employees.

5.3.8 Case Evaluation when Legal Head's participation is mandatory

Upon the employee's submission of the Written Explanation, the HR Department and the Department Head shall conduct a thorough evaluation of the case to ascertain the facts, to determine the fair and just disposition of the case, and to ascertain the appropriate penalty, if any. The Legal Head must be involved in the decision-making process if HR's recommendation is to dismiss the erring employee. For other cases, the Legal Head may be consulted particularly on difficult questions of law, policy or evidence.

5.3.9 Deliberation and Preparation of the Notice of Decision

The HR Department shall consult with the Department Head to deliberate the outcome of the case. The HR Business Partner (HRBP) or a deputized representative will draft the Notice of Decision for disciplinary actions that warrant Final Written Warning or Dismissal as penalty, while the Department Manager is responsible for writing Decisions for offenses with Level 1 to Level 2 sanction.

5.3.10 Review and Approval of the Notice of Decision

The HR Department shall prepare the Notice of Decision which shall be subject to the review and approval of the Vice President for HR (or her deputized representative) and Philippine Legal Department Head. The approved Notice of Decision shall be immediately served to the employee by the HR Department.

5.3.11 Zero Tolerance, Red Flags, and Critical Error Cases

Employee acts and conducts which under their Code or in other company policies are categorized as Zero Tolerance Cases, Red Flag Cases, or Critical Error Cases must be resolved promptly and expeditiously if the facts gathered during the investigation process are sufficient to decide on the case.

5.3.12 Signatures

All leaders and employees of the Company accept, ratify, and approve that in view of the modern way of doing business and of facilitating workplace operations, and in light of their acceptability under Philippine laws, rules, regulations, and jurisprudence, any electronic or digital signature under any document, evidence, written matter, or proceedings in the context of their Code of Conduct shall be equally valid and binding as an ink-written signature.
